

Mercy Egbujor, DNP, NP, APRN

Family Nurse Practitioner, Doctor of Nursing Practice
Santa Clara Valley Medical Center (SCVMC)

Egbujor has worked with SCVMC for 22 years and has been a primary care provider for the homeless for 14 years. In her current role with the SCVMC Valley Homeless Healthcare Program (VHHP) in San Jose, California, she provides needed health care services to the homeless population in clinics, mobile medical units, streets, encampments, parks, or wherever homeless persons are found. She helped to implement VHHP's Backpack Homeless Healthcare Program, an innovative street medicine program that brings health care services to unsheltered homeless people. She has also presented on Safe and Effective Backpack Street Medicine for the unsheltered homeless population. Egbujor earned her doctor of nursing practice degree from San Jose/Fresno State University. She also serves as a volunteer associate clinical professor for the University of California San Francisco School of Nursing.