

Julie Weckstein

Licensed Clinical Social Worker

University of California Davis Medical Center

With a focus on pediatrics, Weckstein has served with the University of California Davis Medical Center since 1997. She also participates in many diversity activities and initiatives in the health system. She is a content expert on lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, intersex, and queer medical and mental health issues. Weckstein helped make the University of California Davis a leader in this important field by assisting in writing a policy on the care and treatment of transgender patients. She was also instrumental in integrating sexual orientation and gender identity questions into the electronic medical record.
