

Dan Castillo, MHA

CEO

Los Angeles County (LAC)+University of Southern California (USC) Medical Center

Castillo leads more than 8,000 employees and 2,000 physicians in providing care to one of the nation's largest safety-net populations, serving more than 200,000 patients per year. The hospital is a level I trauma center and has the busiest emergency department west of the Mississippi. Castillo focuses on improving access to ambulatory care, developing primary care medical homes, creating awareness around population health, and implementing a hospital-wide Electronic Health Record system. Previously Castillo served as CEO of a $63-million pediatric physician-hospital consortium. He also led the transformation of an adult safety-net health plan through a Section 1115 waiver expansion for childless adults unable to qualify for Medicaid. Among other accolades, Information Week 500 recognized Castillo as leading one of the top-10 government programs nationally for innovations in health information technology.
