How to access today's webinar from 2-3 pm ET (May 7):

1. Please search your inbox (or junk mail folder) for your registration confirmation from messenger@webex.com. In it, you will find a URL under the "Joining the Event" header that will grant you access to the online meeting room. In case you cannot locate your letter, here is the URL you may paste into your web browser: https://essentialhospitals.webex.com/essentialhospitals/onstage/g.php?MTID=e0c522c70b71bde74c62fa51831e6b781
2. When the page loads, locate the header "Join Event Now." Please provide your first and last name, along with the email address that you used when you registered.
3. After you enter the information and click "Join Now," the online meeting room will load.
4. A box containing the dial-in information should appear. If you don't see it, click on the telephone icon and select "I will call in." The dial-in information will be visible to you at that time, and you may dial in.

Tips and web browser compatibility:

- Please note that our webinar platform is web-based, so it prefers that you join the webinar in the order of my above steps, instead of dialing in first and then attempting to login with your computer.
- Internet Explorer and Mozilla Firefox are compatible browsers, and the system does not work well with Google Chrome.
- To access all components of today's webinar, you will need a computer with a viable internet connection (to view the slides) and a telephone (to hear the audio and participate telephonically).
- We recommend dialing in 10-15 minutes prior to the webinar, so that I can help you before we begin, if you need assistance/have questions.
